Territorian Lore

Territoria is a benevolent planet with peaceful, tree-like creatures. Meet the Territorians- population, 10,000. Everyone on beautiful Territoria enjoyed their days playing board games and spent their nights rooting energy.

The Territorians are gentle and peaceful manner creatures without knowing any violence... until one day..

Another small planet crashed into Territoria, changing the lives of all civilians overnight. The collision created a giant hole in their breathable ozone, making Territoria a hostile place to live. Now, all Territorians must battle for land in order to maintain their energy and gather resources.

The friendly games they played to settle arguments are now a fierce means of survival.

Mission

Our mission is to provide an engaging, user-first NFT game that feels like you're playing with family members. We believe that NFT games should be more accessible to all and that the community should be welcoming and positive.

Our mobile-first gaming experience provides stable passive tokens through in-game breeding and holding opportunities within the Territorian economy.

In- game competitions incentivize users to earn passive tokens through our native cryptocurrency, $TERR.

Vision

Territorian is an NFT based game that allows users to earn passive tokens with our play to earn economy. Our vision would not exist without our community, because Territorian is synonymous with the community built around it.

Our vision for how users interact with the Territorian ecosystem will continue to expand over time, and it's important to note that we will grow and expand through observing user gameplay and user feedback.

Territorian feels more like playing your favorite board game around the table with good company rather than engaging with a complicated platform. We noticed that the current NFT games on the market felt a little cold and robotic, so we created Territorian to be human-friendly and accessible for all- embracing newcomers and experienced holders alike.

Transparency

We aim to be an authentic NFT community fueled by real people, for real people. No cold, robotic interfaces here- just easy and fun gameplay inspired by classic board games.

Empowerment

The Territorian family grows together and supports each other's growth. This means not only financial empowerment, but personal and professional development.

Integration

We work hard to seamlessly integrate blockchain assets ($TERR) onto our NFT mobile-first gaming platform. Our assets are designed to continually increase in value and can be measured and tracked on Rarity Sniper.

Community

Territorian is a place to join with fellow members to form alliances and work together to take more control of more land.

Some methods to accomplish community:

1. Join the Discord channel
2. Form In-game alliances

$TERR

$TERR Token will be our native token; it will be used for all in-game transactions and staking protocols. $TERR is hosted on the ultra-scaleable Polygon blockchain. The Polygon network can currently achieve a speed of 7,200 transactions per second (TPS), which makes it an extremely lucrative network and worthy of our backing. All tokenomics for the $TERR token will be announced in the coming months.

Mobile Friendly

Territorian is a mobile-first NFT Game where users can hold environment tiles to earn our native token called $TERR, which is backed on Polygon (an Ethereum-based crypto).

Games rule the mobile app world. That's why Territorian is working to make the Territorian game, a mobile first iOS and Android application.

We are in the process of discovering the technical requirements to host our game on these platforms, and will be making further announcements regarding this in the future.

Holder Incentives

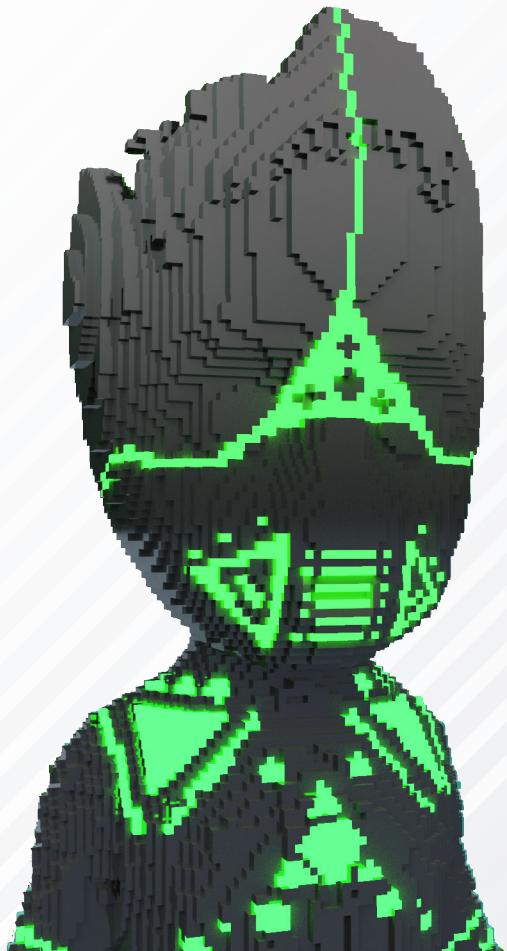

In Territorian NFT, there are 10,000 individual Territorians looking for opportunities to earn more resources, TERR. The TERR is very important for all Territorians for their next generation and also to protect their tiles from others and earn more income. Users that hold both Male and Female Territorian characters are able to breed the 2 NFTs to mint a new Junior Territorian NFT, which can be used to stake additional land.

Territorians are able to create and join Alliances, which adds an additional layer of protection to their environmental land tiles, creating passive tokens. Territorian NFT Holders are able to compete against each other, in the Territorian game, in order to win land and start earning passive tokens.

In-Game Items

There are opportunities within the game to purchase items. All items are purchasable through $TERR tokens, such as tile protection (shields).

Shields expire within different time denominations, so purchase and use them wisely. Additional consumable items will be available in the Territorian ecosystem to improve the user experience within our game application.

Land Tiles

The Territorian Game Map is built out of Land Tiles. We are estimating that there will be 5000 Vacant Land Tiles in the game available for staking when the game begins, however this value may change due to our developing Tokenomics.

Land Tiles staked by users will produce passive tokens, paid out in $TERR Token. Vacant Land Tiles will be unoccupied to be taken over by the users except for a certain amount of land tiles that will be designated for infrastructure such as roads and buildings in game, which can not be staked on.

TERRITORIAN | NFT Game Details

Breeding System

Territorian NFTs will come equipped with an NFT breeding mechanism, however there are more male NFTs than there are female (70/30). Breeding will be an important component to optimizing your passive token intake, as it will give you an additional opportunity to stake an NFT on a Land Tile.

When you produce Junior NFTs through breeding, you gain an additional NFT to play with in the game, giving you an additional character to stake more land with. To breed, you must have 1200 $TERR tokens to burn, as well as both a male and female NFT staking their own separate land.

Clans

Protect your game tiles by forming clans with other players.

In the Territorian game, the clan system is built in to make Territorian feel as if you're part of a family.

Clans help you protect your staked tiles and help fellow clan members protect theirs through strategic clan membership. A special passive bonus will be active when one clan owns an entire continent. Clan members are able to protect each others' tile when the hero is absent from their tile. So any clan member of yours can compete and protect land for you, while you are away from the game. In the game of Territorian NFT, you are able to join an existing clan, or to create your own clan.

To create a clan, as the Clan master you must hold a tile for staking and burn $2000 TER. To join an existing clan, you must hold a Tile for staking and burn 500 $TERR.

Competition

In order to win tiles to stake and earn passive tokens, your Territorian NFT will have to compete and win in order to earn the territory and stake the land.

Competition is done through mastering a board-game-like duel, similar to the popular board game Othello.

If you hold the tile and you're being challenged, win this board-game style duel once to successfully defend your tile. If you are challenging a current tile holder, you must win two games in a row to win your opponent's tile.

If you lose a competition, you have to wait an extended time before you can try to attack again, this amount of time is yet to be determined and may change upon user feedback

Rarity of Territorians

Rarity plays a huge role in determining the value of certain NFTs as well as the utility that may be offered through an NFT's traits.

When it comes to NFT, there are 4 tiers of rarity: Common, Rare, Super Rare, and Legendary. Rarity can be tracked using tools such as Rarity Sniper, which we discussed in previous sections of this whitepaper.

Also, we set the gender rate at 7:3 which means there are 7000 male collections and only 3000 female collections. We decided to less female numbers to control Junior's value.
